

Antarctica - The Final Frontier

Captain Stephen Wilkins has been sailing in the Southern Hemisphere and around the globe since 1990.

He chartered his yacht "Xplore" a 67' cutter rigged sloop, in Antarctica from 2008 - 2018. Stephen has been working with the French government to chart the waters of Antarctica over the past decade.

This past year Stephen captained "NanuQ," a yacht with the latest in design and technology, to study ocean waters for temperature, salinity, microbe elements and plastic contents.

Stephen has offered to share some photos, stories and his journey with you while here in Nova Scotia. Be prepared for penguins!
